RICE AT $16; MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED

Chief Chinese Foodstuff Now Selling Higher Then Ever Before

RIOTS FEARED

Seek Method To Relieve Suffering Of Poor Till Help Comes

LOOTING BEGINS

Chamber Of Commerce Is Sponsor For Movement To Relieve Shortage

Never before in the history of China has rice reached the alarming figure which it hit yesterday, namely $16 per picul.

Although no order has yet been made to enforce martial law in the Chinese territories, Nantao and Pootung have both been armed to the teeth in anticipation of trouble which may result from the further jump in the price of rice.

Vigorous efforts are being made locally to relieve the situation while the high authorities in Peking and Nanking are still conducting a wordy battle against the unknown pronteers and putting their dignified vermillin rescripts to the effect that an inquiry into the cause of the sudden rise would be conducted.

BUY CHEAP RICE

The immediate plans of the local authorities include the extention of the privilege of buying cheap rice to as many paupers as possible, the purchase of a large quantity of cereal from Kiangsi, Hongkong and Saigon, the encouragement of the establishment of private cheap exchanges and the seizure and confiscation of hoarded and smuggled rice.

Pootung rice shops were on tiptoes all day yesterday. Following instructions of the police to open their doors, they only opened up one window at each shop in order to allow the legitimate purchasers to secure their supply. Paupers still attempted to loot.

ARMY OF OLD WOMEN

An army of old women with empty baskets stormed a village near Pootung named Tang Chiao. The rice shops had had news of their arrival beforehand and promptly put on their shutters. The invaders, failing to loot the shops, stormed the homes of the better class residents, only to be dispersed by the armed police.

Prompt action of the Acting Defense Commissioner prevented looting of rice in Lunghua. On hearing that a large consignment of the cereal was coming to the village from Siking yesterday, a gang of poor people marched down to the village with a view to robbing the goods before it reached the village. The shopkeepers appealed for help and a detachment of troops had to be sent to the scene to prevent robbery.

Mr. Moh Hsian-yao, brother of Mr. H. Y. Moh, the Cotton Mill magnate, yesterday announced the opening of a private cheap exchange in his own distret, the Yang Shih Shang. He and a Chen family and the Hung Yuan Cotton Mill will stand all the expenses in connection with the depot.

CHAMBER ACTS

As the result of a special meeting of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, plans have been made to relieve the local situation by

(1) Limiting the price of rice, the limitation to be decided upon by the rice dealers and to be ordered by the administrative authorities.

(2) Investigating the actual quantity in stock in Shanghai and into the reports of hoarding. Twenty members of the chamber will form a committee to undertake the work of investigation. The chairman and vice-chairman of the chamber will head the committee.

(3) Raising funds for the purchase of rice from other provinces. The sum of $30,000 was raised for that purpose at the meeting.

(4) Bringing rice from places where the cereal is available and chartering boats for the transportation at once.

Presidential Possibility And His Wife

The former Speaker of the House is looked upon by many as the right man to head the Democratic party.

Lieut. Chatom Appointed Recruiting Officer For American Volunteer Body

Double strength will be presented by the American Company, S.V.C., when Independence Day is celebrated on July Fourth if the plans of Second Lieutenant Paul Chatom, Jr., are effective—and he says they will be.

It is felt by the American volunteer soldiers on duty in Shanghai that they should have a stronger organization and make a better showing. Accordingly Major S. A. Ransom, commanding infantry, has drafted Lieutenant Chatom as recruiting officer and has entrusted him with the task of doubling the enrollment of the American company at once. The new appointee is confident that he will attain his objective if he is given the co-operation of his fellow-countrymen in the Settlement.

A letter sent out by the new recruiting officer describes the situation graphically. He says:

"Major Ransom has made me "Recruiting Officer" with instructions to proceed at once to increase the strength of the Company.

IS "SOME JOB"

"You will note that the assignment is spelled with capital letters and bracketed with quotation marks. This is not vainglorioustly intended as a compliment to myself. Rather it is a recognition of the fact that it is some job. Of late I've been getting acquainted somewhat with this job and have discovered that sympathy would be far more appropriate than compliments.

"It's an important job (if you take to heart, as every man should, what Major Ransom mentioned in his letter). It's a hard job. (I've found this out already). It's a thankless job. (I knew this before being detailed but didn't have any joss).

"In fact I've been unable to discover a single advantage to the job so have decided to create one myself. Its going to be a co-operative job and you are going to be in on it.

"We'll take as our objective this goal:

"Double the strength of the American Company by the Fourth of July!

"Sounds like a big job doesn't it?

"It would be for the Recruiting Officer alone.

"But he is not going to monopolise it.

"But it isn't a big job if properly distributed.

"And division of labor is the essence of all modern activity—economic or social.

"So we'll use system.

"Every man in the company is going to present his Uncle Sam with a birthday present on the Fourth of July in the shape of a 'bouncing—innocent' (but enthusiastic) "rookie" for the American Company, S.V.C. Shanghai, China.

NOT FORGOTTEN

"Say, won't he appreciate it?—to know that we have not forgotten him entirely even though we have strayed far from the fold. He'll appreciate it far more than many of the vociferous orations with which he will be presented on his birthday this presidential year.

"And we'll be doing just a little thing in a far away, distant land—for Old Glory—for America.

"Just one recruit from each man and nearly a week in which to work. Surely this is not a difficult mission. Dick Deming of the Texas Oil Co., a recruit, just enrolled 8 men in one week.

"But, attention! to just one qualification!

"Please pick your man.

"I have to train the recruits so naturally have a peculiar interest in this particular phase of this campaign.

"Give encouragement only to men who you feel quite sure will turn out to the drills, take them seriously, and be efficient.

"Only the men who can be depended on in time of emergency are the men who count.

"Point out to them that if they have had previous military experience (close order drill) and are proficient they will be required to attend only two recruit drills this summer, while men entirely new to the game will drill on Thursday afternoons only until such time as they learn the rudiments so they can take their place and march off with the company when we fall in for camp late in September.

"Explain that the requirements do not work any hardship no matter how busy a man may be since we carry on active training during only five months of the year, November to March, and then the requirement is only twelve drills, six corps parades, and the musketry course.

IS AMERICANS DUTY

"The able bodied, single young American who has not served at least one enlistment in the American Company is laying his patriotism and sense of civic duty open to question.

"Nor do the married get off Scott free. It's up to their wives to urge them to join for "face pidgin" if nothing else. Hasn't a wife the right to make her husband show that he feels the possession of something worth fighting for as well as to fight with?

"In approaching a prospective member the exploitation of the physical and social benefits offered by the Company depends largely on your own keenness and enthusiasm.

"Don't be a lukewarm member!

"Be a 100 percent booster!

"It won't be long now until this is the only kind of men the Company will contain. We are getting a lot of new, young blood. There were thirty recruits at the drill last Thursday.

"We know there is no real sacrifice involved. Inertia and apathy are what keep men from joining. Here is an opportunity to repel the influence of sloth and ease which, if permitted, too easily creeps into our lives in the East.

"As compensation a man experiences the feeling of satisfaction and pride which comes from having made an effort to uphold the honor of his country and to be true to her interests and principles while in a far away land."

CHIHLI CONTROL OVER KINHAN R.R. IS NOW COMPLETE

Chief Source Of Anfuite Revenue Falls Into Enemy Hands

DEADLOCK YET UNBROKEN

Tuan And Chang Fail To Reach Decision After Many Conferences

BY NATHANIEL PEFFER
(Staff Wire to THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, June 29.—The deadlock over the Chihli-Anfu crisis is still unbroken. The leaders of the opposing military factions, General Chang Tso-lin and Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, have held many sessions without reaching any decision.

The resignations of the three Anfu Ministers in the present Cabinet, especially the Minister of Communications, as demanded by the Chihli militarists, has not yet been submitted by the Anfuites. They refuse to accede to the demand.

COMPROMISE PROBABLE

It is mostly likely that a compromise may be effected and the terms of the compromise are now being negotiated. It is possible that Mr. Tsang Yu-tsing will yield the Communications portfolio and get another post in the Cabinet. The Minister of Finance, Li Shih-hao, will be transferred but his successor will be someone who will not be hostile to the Anfu crowd.

It is also reported that proposals have been made whereby a clean sweep will be made to retire the present Cabinet. General Chin Yung-peng may remain inactive, while the offer to Mr. Chow Shu-mou to form a Cabinet will not be accepted. This will enable the Anfu Ministers to resign with "face."

YOCHOW IS FACTOR

The capture of Yochow by the Southern forces is a factor in the situation. The Wang Chien-yuan [illegible] taken over the section of the Peking-Hankow Railway in the province. This indicates that the Chihli Tuchuns are dividing up the Kinhan Line in this maneuver, because it is the chief source of revenue to the Ministry of Communications, which is the chief reason why the Anfu Club wants the ministry.

The status of Little Hsu is not yet determined. It is probable however that Chang Tso-lin will not insist on the disbandment of his troops. This is due to the bitter hostility against Little Hsu in Mongolia where his methods of administration have aroused the anger and unrest of the natives, who may possibly overpower him.

McADOO FINALLY AGREES TO RUN

"Wets" And "Drys" Ready To Fight To Death In Convention

(Reuter's Service)

San Francisco, June 28.—Mr. McAdoo agrees to accept candidature for the Presidency, if he is nominated, and this is increasing the boom in his favor.

The "wets" and "drys" are outlining their respective planks. Mr. Bryan, in a sweeping declaration, stands for the strict enforcement of the Volstead Act, not permitting higher alcoholic contents of beverages.

Mr. Burleson's statement favors a modification of the law to permit the manufacture and sale of beverages, not in fact intoxicating.

These statements presage a strong battle in the convention, although prominent leaders are urging that there shall be no mention of a prohibition platform.

The Hague, June 26.—It is officially stated that the Jurists' Advisory Committee of the League of Nations has decided to recommend the Hague as the seat of the permanent Court of International Justice.

The Committee generally adopted the view that the Court should be open only to cases brought by States and not by individuals, who would have the protection of their Governments.

(China Press Correspondence)

Hankow, June 25.—General Wang Chan-yuan, Military Governor, and Mr. Ho Pei-yung, Civil Governor of Hupeh, came to Hankow from Wuchang, the provincial capital, on June 23, and met the leading Chinese merchants in Hankow and Wuchang in a conference held in the Hankow Chinese Chamber of Commerce.

Thirty-six members of the Wuchang Chinese Chamber of Commerce and more than one hundred members of the Hankow Chinese Chamber of Commerce attended. Mr. Shu Yung-ting, president of the Wuchang Chamber, was in the chair.

20,000 STARVING

[illegible] has been received from Yochow that about 20,000 people, according to an estimate by the Chinese Red Cross Society, are starving there. There are now about 10,000 refugees in the foreign mission compounds according to Dr. William F. Adam of the American Reformed Church Mission, Yochow.

On hearing this distressing news, people in Hankow and Wuchang felt that some immediate relief measures must be taken to remedy the conditions there. The Wu-Han Chinese Y.M.C.A., the Hankow Benevolent Society and the London Mission in Wuchang are pooling their efforts and buying one hundred piculs of rice for immediate despatch.

STANDARD OIL HELPS

The Standard Oil Company of New York, in Hankow, offered to lend help and took the rice up to Yochow by one of their steamers today, and will deliver same to the Commander of the U. S. S. Upshur (144) which is now stationed opposite Yochow to re-establish wireless connection with Hankow.

The Commissioner of Customs in Hankow allowed this shipment of relief rice to leave Hankow without duty.

The Hankow Chapter of the Chinese Red Cross is also active. They have sent corps of medical assistants and workers to help the people in the pillaged and ransacked area in Hunan, and have also sent up large quantities of rice.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

For the convenience and accommodation of the refugees coming down from Yochow, General Wang Chan-yuan, Military Governor of Wuchang, has made some special arrangements as to their shelter and food.

Stories of the ravage and pillage by the northern soldiers retreating from Changsha are told by people coming down here every day from the scene of action.

The section of the Wuchang-Changsha Railway between Changsha and Yochow was ruthlessly pillaged and families have been robbed twice or several times and had their women ravished and their dear ones held up by the soldiers for ransom.

(Russia News Agency)

Irkutsk, June 24.—East of Vinnitza the "Red" army, on June 19, in a counterattack, forced the enemy to withdraw behind the Dneiper. During the retreat the enemy blew up the bridge.

The Russian army continues to press upon the enemy, whose army is retreating toward Korosten. The army forced the Poles to retreat toward Jmerinka.

An offensive is successfully developing along the left bank of the Dneiper. Having broken the resistance of the enemy, the Russians are advancing toward Mogilev-Podolsky.

On June 20 the Red army in the Polotzk region repulsed an attack of the enemy. In a sudden attack the Russian army forced the Dneiper and occupied Retchitza. The offensive is successfully developing. The Red army has taken a considerable booty.

VINNITZA OCCUPIED

The Russians continue to press upon the Poles in the Korosten region. A number of prisoners have been taken by the Reds, who have occupied Vinnitza.

On June 21, the Russians west of Retchitza, reached the railroad station of Badichi. The enemy is hastily retreating. The Russians have occupied Jmerinka.

In Krymuchastk the Russians sunk a Polish steamer in the Dneiper. Under the influence of our drives in the Melodechno region the Poles made preparations to withdraw from Vilno. The population of the city is hostile to the Poles.

Delegations of the Jewish population are daily arriving in Kiev from the districts which have but recently undergone the Polish invasion, and report atrocities and devastation by the Poles in those districts.

BURIAL OF UTKIN

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, June 28.—The funeral of M. Utkin the Russian representative on the Japanese-Russian Armistice Commission, his secretary, M. Grajenski, and the militia-man, who were killed by General Bochkaroff's Cossacks, took place here yesterday. Thousands took part in the funeral procession which was a mile long. Over a hundred wreaths were laid on the graves. Representatives of the Government, the National Assembly and of the workers' unions made long speeches at the graveside.

Well-informed circles state that the Government has invited the commercial group of the Progressive Democratic Party to take an active part in the various Ministries.

A Japanese transport has left Nikolaevsk for Vladivostok and Japan with British, American and French refugees on board and also 600 Russians.

FROM NIKOLAIEVSK

Tokio, June 29.—An official statement issued here today says: "The Bolsheviks, when leaving Nikolaievsk, compelled the citizens to accompany them and then robbed and drowned them in the river Amgun.

"The Bolsheviki are sending out wireless messages asserting that Japanese warships destroyed Nikolaievsk, but before the evacuation of Nikolaievsk they wirelessed boasting that they had reduced the town to ashes, leaving nothing for the Japanese.

"A Japanese cruiser has reached Petropavlovsk and the population has been reassured, by a proclamation informing them that they will be protected if the Japanese are not endangered."

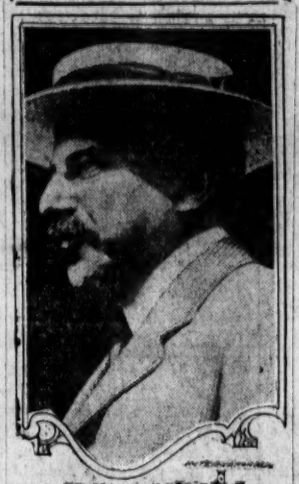
Tokio, June 29.—The vernacular newspapers report that the policy of the Government with regard to Nikolaevsk is based on the suggestions of the military authorities. It is stated that Nikolaevsk, Alexandrovsk and other important points will be occupied, the reasons for which action will soon be announced, in order that the Powers may understand, but the plans will be carried out, even if the Powers express disapproval, because of the serious nature of the situation.

Indicted President Of American Woolen Co.



William M. Wood.

The joint indictment of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company of Massachusetts and the American Woolen Company of New York, and both companies by the Federal Grand Jury, New York, on a charge of profiteering, has created quite a stir in the East. Mr. Wood and the companies are charged with fourteen separate violations of the Lever law. Herbert C. Smyth, special assistant to the United States Attorney-General, alleges that the companies have increased their prices this year more than 300 percent over those of 1919. Mr. Smyth will, it is expected, ask for heavy bail.

Irish Reports Tell Of Better Conditions

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 26.—The situation in Londonderry today was easier. A few shots were fired but mostly in the air. The military are active and question and search all pedestrians after dark. The city is gradually becoming normal and the proapects of peace are good.

Lord French, addressing a meeting at Belfast today, said that the Government would never entertain proposals for the establishof an Irish Republic or for the coercion of Ulster.

The Government was determined that the Irish people should enjoy the same privileges and protection as the other parts of the United Kingdom and it would not hesitate to employ the forces at its disposal to attain that end.

Urges Air Route, Egypt To India

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 26.—The report of the Advisory Committee on Civil Aviation says, with regard to the development of Imperial air routes, that concentration must be made on one route, namely, Egypt to India.

It recommends direct State assistance to companies, operating foreign routes, limited to a maximum of £250,000 for two years. The report does not recommend State assistance for long distance routes within the British Isles.

Air Marshal Sir H. M. Trenchard dissented from the proposal for the payment of assistance to operators suggesting in preference that money should be allotted to assist design and research.

JAP OPPOSITION PARTY AT ODDS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, June 29.—On the eve of the opening of the special session of the Diet, predictions are current of a break up of the Kenseikai, Opposition, party owing to disagreement between the leader, Viscount Kato, and the radical ex-Minister Mr. Yukio Ozaki and his followers.

Mr. Ozaki, in the course of a speech yesterday, asked "Can we Japanese reconcile our consciences to the Government occupying the North of Sakhalin in retaliation for Nikolaievsk now, or would it not be more rational to exact satisfaction after a stable Russian Government has been established?"

Mr. Ozaki added that he considered that it was not the time for a change of Government in Japan.

COMPROMISE IN CABINET CONTROVERSY IS REACHED

CHIN, WAR LORD

Civic Party Will Guide Destinies Of Nation Henceforth

ABOLISH PACT

Sino-Japanese Treaty To Be Abrogated By Incoming Board

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 29.—It has been practically decided that Chou Shou-mou will be the new Premier, with Chin Yung-peng as Minister for War; but the latter will, in reality, be the moving spirit of the Cabinet.

Chin Yung-peng has been principally responsible for this arrangement, as he felt that some consideration was due to his former Anfu colleagues in the Cabinet.

The new Cabinet will represent popular opinion to a greater extent than any previous Government. In order to insure this, men such as Dr. Wang Chung-hui, the legal expert, and Fan Yuan-lien, the former Minister of Education, will be invited to join the Ministry.

These two men are quoted as examples of able and independent representatives of the people, not connected with any party and not backed by any powerful clique.

Marshal Tuan Chi-jui has been brought to realise the danger represented by the Anfu Club, and he is not now allowing them to use his name for the furtherance of political intrigues.

Marshal Tuan's visit to the President yesterday resulted in a satisfactory understanding.

CIVIL PARTY

The new Cabinet will mean government by a civil party, of which the President is the head; and he will therefore, find it possible to carry out measures of benefit to the whole country without the continual hindrances of the past, which have been traced to their roots.

In order to avoid a recurrence of these obstacles, arrangements have been made for the transfer of four mixed brigades of the frontier defense force to the control of the Ministry of War.

The question whether General Hsu Shu-tseng will be allowed to retain the post of Frontier Defense Commissioner has not yet been decided. If he is not removed, he will be asked to confine his attention to frontier problems in Mongolia.

With regard to foreign affairs, Marshal Tuan Chi-jui's views have been obtained and he agrees as to the advisability of abolishing the Sino-Japanese military pact.

GENERAL IMPROVEMENT

A general improvement in China's foreign relations is to be expected. When the cabinet is formed something will be done to conclude peace with the South, probably through negotiations, conducted simultaneously in Shanghai and Canton.

The Government considers that the question as to who is to negotiate is of minor importance.

The general inclination of the Cabinet will be towards friendship with Great Britain and, on that account, persistent rumors are spreading that Mr. Alfred Sze, the minister in London, will be foreign minister.

The situation in Hunan is not causing any alarm and no development is expected after the fall of Yochow and the withdrawal of General Chang Ching-yao from Hunan.

MANDATE ISSUED

A mandate is being issued this evening, instructing General Chang Ching-yao to hand over his troops to General Wang Chan-yuan, the Tuchun of Hupeh, and to return to Peking.

The Government has decided to appoint General Wu Kwang-hsin Tuchun of Hunan. Should he decline the appointment, it is believed that someone, more acceptable to the South, will be given the post.

Owing to the persistent rumors which are in circulation in Peking, that an attempt will shortly be made to restore the monarchy, General Chang Tso-lin is soon to issue a statement, disclaiming any such intention on his part.

General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang is recommending Wang Yi-tang for the post of Civil Governor of Chekiang.

It is believed that General Wu Pei-fu will be appointed Tuchun of Shantung after General Tsao Kun has been proclaimed High Commissioner for Shantung, Chihli, Shansi and Honan.

COMMISSION COMING

A commission will shortly be organised with a view to the standardisation of government-owned railways, M. Painleve will be the head of the commission and will be assisted by the advisers of the nationalities concerned.

The Japanese Legation has issued an official denial of the report that Mr. Obata, in a recent interview with Chen Lu, vice-minister of Foreign Affairs, protested against the appointment of Sung Hsiao-lien as Director-General of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The Legation states that Mr. Obata, at his regular weekly interview with Chen Lu, drew attention to the unstable conditions prevailing on the railway, which indirectly affected the South Manchuria Railway; and expressed the hope that the Chinese government would remove such conditions.

WOMAN'S ARM FOUND IN RIVER; POLICE MYSTIFIED

Police activity of the International Settlement is centered upon the task of solving the mystery that surrounds a slender white dead arm—apparently the right arm of a young woman—now at the mortuary. It was found yesterday washed up by the waves of the river upon the sloping foreshore stonework that surrounds the Public Garden.

Examination by the authorities disclosed that the arm, which had been torn away from its upper portion just above the elbow, bore two wounds, evidently inflicted by a sharp weapon, and it was broken in two places. The two cuts are of such a character that they might have been received in seeking to ward off blows of an assailant. The delicate texture of the skin has been taken as fairly certain indication that the arm is that of a young woman, though the theory also has been advanced that it may be that of a boy of about fourteen.

Similar grewsome finds in the past have been traced readily to dissecting rooms of medical schools near the water front, but the marks and all aspects of the arm that is being kept at the mortuary carry mute denial that this human fragment can be traced to such a source.

Mrs. Ayscough To Receive Portuguese Decoration For Her Efforts For War Causes

Ten Thousand Dollars Raised For Charity By British Flower Shop Here Is Report Made To Annual Meeting; All Allies Aided By Fund

Mrs. F. Ayscough is to be decorated by the Portuguese Red Cross for her splendid work as president of the Women's Division in connection with the British Flower Shop. This was the announcement made yesterday at the annual meeting of the Company at the offices of Messrs. Scott, Harding and Company, 6 Peking Road.

Following the reading of the notice of the meeting and the announcement that the reports and accounts had been recommended for approval by the honorary auditors, the chairman's speech was heard and showed that $10,000 was presented to worthy charities, including the Red Cross of various allies, last year from the profits of the Flower Shop as against $8,000 the year before. Attention was also called to the fact that in spite of the good profits realised for charity by the Shop the prices there are as low or lower than elsewhere because much of the overhead is reduced by the fact that most of the workers in connection with the shop and gardens have donated their services for a worthy cause.

Mr. H. M. Lester was in the chair at the meeting yesterday. In his report he said:

CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

"Before proceeding to the business of the meeting I wish to record our profound regret at the loss the British Flower Shop sustained last year by the death of Mr. C. W. Wrightson. In looking through the reports of the Flower Shop since its inception, Mr. Wrightson's name stands out from the rest who have given so much of their time, as being the leading spirit in all its affairs. He was Chairman of the company from the date it was formed until the day of his death. I do not think I am very far wrong in saying that the company owes its existence to his energy and enterprise and it must have been a tremendous satisfaction to him that it was in such a flourishing condition when he died.

"I will now with your permission take the report and accounts as read.

"Profits and contributions received have enabled us to donate $10,000 to Red Cross and other Allied funds, as against $8,000 last year and I am sure that those of you who have studied the accounts of the company will agree that it is in a very sound position.

HAVE EXPERT GARDENER

"Since the last annual meeting we have secured the services of an expert Russian gardener for the Far Nurseries and he is now developing these nurseries to the full extent of their resources.

"I think there is a feeling amongst a certain section of the public that they cannot expect to obtain cheap flowers at the British Flower Shop; I should like to disabuse their minds of this, and am quite sure they will find if they pay it a visit, that not only will the flowers come up to their expectations, but that they can be obtained at an extremely reasonable price. I make no apology for advertising the flower shop in this way, because, the public who do patronise us are not not only benefiting themselves, but are providing funds to divide amongst some of the very deserving charities which are probably more numerous today then they were even during the war. Realising the cosmopolitan community of Shanghai your directors do not confine themselves to British Charities, but endeavour to divide the profits proportionately amongst the various nationalities represented by customers.

LADIES THANKED

"I wish to express our thanks to the ladies committee whose exertions during the past year have done so much towards making the year's working a financial success, and before closing to thank Mr. G. R. Wingrove for his work as Hon. Auditor of the Company, and to wish him a very happy and peaceful retirement in England.

No questions being asked the following resolutions were adopted:

"That the report and statement of accounts for the year ending March 31, 1920, as circulated to shareholders be adopted. Proposed by the Chairman and seconded by Mr. Ayscough.

"That Mr. H. W. Lester be re-elected director of the Company. Proposed by Mr. W. S. Jackson and seconded by Mr. D. McNeill.

"That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thompson be re-elected auditors. Proposed by Mr. F. Ayscough and seconded by Mr. W. S. Jackson.

"That interest at the rate of five percent be paid to shareholders. Proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. W. S. Jackson."

YANGTSZE BLAST FURNACE OPENED

Launching Of New Plant At Hankow Take Place With Interesting Ceremony

The opening ceremony of the Blast Furnace of the Yangtse Engineering Works took place last Saturday. There were over two hundred guests present, among whom were Mr. Han Kwong-tsao, Chief of the Civil Service and representing the Tuchun and the Civil Governor of the Province, the foreign Consuls and prominent Chinese and foreign business men, as also the directors and engineers of the Railways, and Superintendents of the Hanyang Iron Works and Arsenal.

Mr. William Pigott, President of the Pacific Coast Steel Corporation, who arrived at Hankow in the morning on a tour of investigation, evinced his interest in the enterprise by his presence also.

Shortly after 3 o'clock, launches and tugs took the guests down from the Racine Ackermann Jetty to the site of the works in Seven Mile Creek. On arrival they were received by Mr. Wong Kok-shan representing the directors of the company and by Mr. Wong Kwong, the general manager, who showed them round the blast furnace plant. They were given an opportunity of seeing the tapping of the iron, which was arranged to take place about that time.

The guests were then led to a spacious shed decorated with flags and buntings, in which refreshments were served.

Mr. Wong Kok-shan welcomed the guests in a Chinese address, which was replied to by Mr. Han on behalf of the Tuchun and Civil Governor.

Mr. Wong Kwong then addressed the meeting in English.

Mr. C. C. A. Kirke, Acting British Consul in Hankow, replying on behalf of the foreign guests, congratulated the works on the success achieved, and was followed by Mr. L. E. Cale, who proposed drinking to the success and prosperity of the Yangtsze Engineering Works.

MAN WHO HEADED SHELTON RESCUE IN YUNNAN HERE

J. P. Thornton Of Yunnanfu Is On His Way Home On Six Months' Leave

Mr. J. P. Thornton, Standard Oil man at Yunnanfu, who organised and headed the expedition that rescued Dr. A. L. Shelton after the American missionary had been held by Yunnan bandits for more than eight weeks, is at the Astor House and will sail Saturday on six months' leave for his home in Pensacola, Florida.

Mr. Thornton was far more willing to discuss the geography and customs of the Yunnanese, with whom he has lived for the past three years, than to tell about the remarkable exploit that he carried out last March with Dr. Elliott I. Osgood, medical missionary of the Foreign Christian Mission, and Mr. Frederick A. Smith, Chicago Tribune man when the trio marched into the wilds of northwest Yunnan and saved the kidnapped missionary, then near death after an attack of illness.

CAUGHT BY BANDITS

Doctor Shelton was captured about two days journey from Yunnanfu by a band led by the notorious Yang Tien-fuh on December 31 last. Six weeks after he was carried off word filtered into the provincial capital from the wild hill country to the northwest that the missing missionary was dying. The kidnapping was taking on the importance of an international incident after British, French and American legations had begun to take action and Colonel Drysdale, military attache of the American Legation at Peking, was ordered to go to Yunnanfu in connection with the problem.

SMITH TO RESCUE

About the same time Doctor Elliot Osgood, co-worker of Doctor Shelton, announced he intended to undertake a rescue and Mr. Frederick Smith joined him. These two reached Yunnanfu from Shanghai just at the time that Mr. Thornton, whose aid had been enlisted by Colonel Drysdale, had arranged to set out from Yunnanfu with a rescue expedition.

The trio of Americans went together, leaving Yunnanfu on March 4 and it is probably well remembered that the search of ten days that followed ended when Doctor Shelton was discovered in a hut in a native village where the bandits had left him when he was unable to travel farther.

DR. DEWEY AT SOOCHOW

(China Press Correspondence)

Soochow, June 28.—As previously advertised, Dr. John Dewey arrived in Soochow on Saturday afternoon. A reception and banquet were held at the Liu Yuan on Saturday evening. On Sunday afternoon he addressed a group of Government School teachers at the Waung Kong, the old Royal Palace, which is the headquarters of the Soochow branch of the Kiangsu Educational Association.

This morning, in the auditorium of St. John's Methodist Church, Dr. Dewey addressed a large audience composed of the students from all mission schools of Middle School and College grade, and the students from the two Government Normal Schools. Two addresses were given, with an intermission of thirty minutes between. The distances some of the students have to come made it impractical to have two meetings a day.

France Is "Weak," Says Ex-Premier

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 26.—In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, the ex-Premier, M. Aristide Briand, criticised what he described as the weak French policy in the Near East.

He reproached the Government for not imitating the policy of Britain which, he said, "was always like a fair boxer prepared to give blows and receive them."

BUDGET PASSED

Paris, June 26.—The Chamber today passed the budget of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs and two items of the Ministry of War budget, asking for an appropriation of five hundred million francs in connection with operations in the Near East, after a speech by M. Millerand, who said that France would pursue a diplomatic rather than a military policy in Asia Minor and Syria.

GREEKS BEGIN TURK OFFENSIVE

Score Three Victories Over Moslem Nationalists; Great Guns Destroyed

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 24.—Despatches from Smyrna state that the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists has begun. The Nationalists, compelled to concentrate in the neighborhood of Ak-hissar, 47 miles northeast of Smyrna, have been driven back in disorder.

Ak-hissar has been occupied and the Greeks continue to advance towards the north.

A GREEK VICTORY

London, June 24.—A Greek official telegram from Smyrna announces that the Greek army has surrounded a Turkish army-corps at Philadelphin, north of Smyrna, and taken 8,000 prisoners.

AND ANOTHER

London, June 26.—The Greek Legation in London has received an official telegram from Smyrna, which states that the Greek Army has surrounded Turkish (Nationalist) troops at Hissar, capturing prisoners and guns.

AND ANOTHER

London, June 25.—The Greek Legation in London has received an official communication from the Greek headquarters at Smyrna stating that a Greek division occupied Salikli and cleared out the enemy from the region, taking a number of guns and prisoners. The enemy's losses at Ak-hissar were heavy, and he is retreating in disorder.

ONE FOR TURKS

London, June 24.—The British official weekly review of the military situation states that the Turkish Nationalists forces have reached Lapsaki on the Dardanelles.

DESTROYING GUNS

On the Upper Euphrates the British have withdrawn to Anah, which is now the most advanced British post.

London, June 25.—A telegram from Chanak (Dardanelles) to the Times says:

"The process of destroying the eighty guns of the forts on the Asiatic shore from Kephez to the western mouth of the Straits began on June 21.

"One British and one Indian battalion carried out the operations, proceeding to the forts secretly in warships.

"The Turkish guard, who did not resist, were disarmed and are being kept in custody until the work is completed.

"The monster guns of Hamideh Fort are at present being blown up. The explosions are deafening."

Chekiang Rejects New Governor

The appointment of Mr. Shen Ching-chien as the Civil Governor of Chekiang and the transfer of the former Civil Governor, Chi Yao-San, to a similar office in Shantung have drawn vigorous protests from the Chekiang Provincial Assembly.

The assembly declares that Shen is not acceptable to the province, because he was an ardent advocate of monarchial restoration during the time of Yuan Shih-kai and has been rejected by Hunan as its civil governor.

It also demands a thorough investigation of the impeachment it filed against Chi before he could be appointed to any other new post. The general procedure for the Cabinet, says the assembly, is to examine into the allegations of the impeachment immediately it is filed and it is unlawful to appoint a man to any post when he has just been impeached.

EMPRESS DELAYED

The Empress of Russia has been delayed two days and will sail from Shanghai on Monday, July 5, instead of July 3 as previously announced. The Russia will omit Kobe this trip and is due at Vancouver on July 19 as scheduled.

GOOD BASEBALL EXPECTED FROM CLUB TRIANGLE

Harry Naftaly Protests As Defeat Of Untrained Men Is Criticised

Harry Naftaly is on the war-path.

He's the chief factotum in the new International Baseball Club and he's sore as a newly developed boil.

It's all because he's been accused of saying the Shanghai Regulars wouldn't have a look in with his independent organisation. He says the Regulars are a team that should command respect in any baseball circle and that he isn't such a boob as to believe for a minute that an untrained organisation could do more than make a showing of pluck against them. He and his men did the best that was possible without proper drilling and supposed that was all that was expected.

INTERESTING EXHIBIT

Manager Naftaly calls attention to the fact that although the final score indicated that the Internationals were overwhelmingly defeated in their initial appearance they, apparently, gave an interesting exhibition because when he proposed that the contest be ended with seven innings the fans refused to hear of such a thing and insisted on the full nine frames.

In the last five innings the Regulars scored only four runs, McLachlan holding his opponents scoreless in the last two innings of the contest.

INTEREST SHOWN

Great interest is being developed in baseball in Shanghai and no favoritism will be shown by the fans as between the teams. The Regulars, of course, hold the recognised position and should do so as they are the strongest organisation that has been seen here in years. But the interest that is being shown by the Bolsheviki and the Internationals in providing interesting competition is fully appreciated.

The indications are that Shanghai is to see some good baseball this season.

BOLSHEVIKI WILL PLAY REGULARS

Game Scheduled for Tomorrow At Race Course Promises To Be Interesting

The Shanghai Regulars will meet the Bolshevik Baseball Team at the Race Course diamond tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock and Manager Tinkham of the Bolshevik's asserts that his team will be there in full force and of sufficient strength to give the Regulars a run for the money.

Early notice has been given the players on both teams and it is anticipated that the most interesting game to date will be staged when these two teams meet.

The Bolshevik intend also to challenge the local Navy Team for a game at an early date and are endeavoring to arrange a schedule for the rest of the season.

Porterfield, Tinkham or Hopkins will probably pitch for the Bolsheviki, while either Gill or Claire will perform for the Regulars.

SKIRMISH YESTERDAY

There was a hot skirmish yesterday afternoon at the Race Course when the Bolshevik team, re-enforced by a couple of the regulars, put up a stiff game for a few innings and then collapsed when the fence busters on the Shanghai team began to tickle the Golf Clubhouse with Tinkham's offerings. Tinkham wilted under the bombardment and after his retirement to the bench the game ended with the regulars as usual on the long end of the score.

The U.S.S. Elliot left for up river today but will be back Saturday. The game scheduled for Saturday may not take place but the games for Sunday and Monday will come off as arranged. The home team will turn out for stiff work-outs every day between now and the Fourth. Antoher game is to be played Thursday with the Bolsheviki if a sufficient number of the latter can be induced to show up to make a full team.

Remarkable Action Photograph Of Britain's Fiery Tennis Star

Pretty Miss E. Colyer, nicknamed "the Demoness of the Tennis Court" because of her strenuous play, photographed in action during a match at Hurlingham, England. This is probably the most remarkable action photo ever made of a tennis player. Miss Colyer has been returned the victor in many important tournaments in England and is looked upon as a prominent candidate for first honors among her sex.

Notes Of The Y. M. C. A.

The Sunday Service League has discontinued the Sunday afternoon meetings until September. The results of this effort to provide a service in English for Chinese returned students and others has fully justified the hopes of the founders. This past year the meetings have been more largely attended than during any previous year.

The boys' camp for Chinese boys from middle schools and academies will be conducted during the last two weeks of August at Poatoo Islands. Arrangements have been made for the use of one of the largest temples. Seventy boys are expected, most of them from Shanghai.

Twenty-five students are this week taking examinations in the Association building to enter Tsing Hwa College. The examination this year being conducted by Mr. Y. C. Koh.

During July and August the weekly edition of "Shanghai Young Men" will be suspended, the monthly edition appearing as usual. News of interest will appear in the daily press each week.

Mr. K. S. Zee, Membership Secretary of the Shanghai Association has been released by the Board of Directors for one year's service with the Soochow Association beginning Jan. 1, 1921. Mr. Zee is an experienced secretary, having been with the Association eight years. Soochow Association is very fortunate in having been able to secure a secretary of ability and experience.

The Association recreation ground near the Rifle Range is being much used this summer by tennis enthusiasts. The Association plans to conduct this year as heretofore two tennis tournaments—one for Association championship, and the other open championship for all Chinese in Shanghai. Both events will be held in August.

Considerable improvements are being made in the Association dormitories which are so extensively used by the students returned from abroad.

The Shanghai Association plans to extend the work that is being done for the returned laborers from France, so as to form an industrial department. The Board of Directors have appointed the following committee to be in charge of this work: S. Z. Zee Chairman; H. Y. Moh, Vice-Chairman; C. L. Nieh, Treasurer; Hsiao Gee Fong, Recording Secretary with Messrs. Chang Pin-yung, T. N. Siao, C. H. Wang, C B. Bao and C. Z. Shan. Messrs. S. Y. Loh and W. S. Chen, both secretaries who have served in France, have been called as secretaries. At present in addition to the service that is being rendered to the several thousands of returned laborers now in Shanghai, the careful study of the field of industry in Shanghai will be made with a view to determine the future policy.

The Boys' Division are giving on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week a special entertainment proceeds of which are to be devoted to health campaign work. This campaign is enlisting many students with a view to the active service during the summer months. One member of the committee has recently subscribed a sum to print 1,600,000 hand bills on health. These bills are printed in Chinese with pictures emphasising the following enemies of health: flies, mosquitoes, rats and tuberculosis.

For the benefit of visitors in Shanghai during the summer a special membership rate is being offered as follows: Full membership 1 month $3; 2 months $5; 3 months $7; 4 months $8; and Business Men's Club Membership $4 per month.

Mr. Y. K. Chang, the well-known Chinese artist and director of the Art School of the Y.M.C.A. Shanghai, is arranging to give a public exhibit of western art during the days of July 2 and 3 in the Association building. It will be open to the public without charge. In all more than 200 paintings of various artists have been gathered, most of them being water-colors and oil paintings depicting actual life and scenic beauty. Among them will be some painted by Mr. Chang himself. Special attention may be called to the very excellent pictures contributed by Mr. Rudolf, the well-known local French artist, and others by a Belgium lady and a Russian painter.

In The U. S. Court For China

Lung Chu,
Plaintiff,
vs.
The Sino Americo Trading Corporation,
Defendant.

Cause No. 1001.
Civil No. 344.
JUDGMENT
Filed Tientsin, June 25, 1920.

SYLLABUS

1. Contracts: Formation. Acceptance is necessary in order to turn an offer into a contract and such acceptance must be communicated to the proposer.

2. Acceptance must be absolute and in the identical terms of the offer.

3. Offer. A request for terms differing from the offer amounts to a counter proposal and rejection of the former.

4. Revocation is open to the proposer up to the moment of acceptance.

5. Execution, of an instrument without reading it will not excuse a party from the terms thereof in the absence of fraud.

Messrs. Kent and Mounsey by Mr. Kent for Plaintiff. Edgar Pierce Allen, Esq., for Defendant.

LOBINGIER, J.:

On June 7, 1919, plaintiff executed an instrument (Exhibit 2) reciting that

"The undersigned orders through the Sino-Americo Trading Corporation the undermentioned goods subject to approval of manufacturer."

A description of the goods in question follows the foregoing clause and then the plaintiff's "chop" or signature in Chinese. Another instrument bearing the same date but executed by defendant's manager according to his testimony two days later contained the same descriptions and purported to be a "contract for the sale and purchase of the undermentioned goods." It was later sent in duplicate to the plaintiff and retained but never executed by it. From the evidence it appears that the last named instrument was signed by defendant's manager at the request of the manufacturer's agent, then in Tientsin, who had solicited orders for these goods and subsequently cabled them to his principal in New York, where the order was rejected by a cable sent June 12, reading:

"Impossible to close business other than original Telegraph quotations. Please explain extraordinary advance."

No money was paid by plaintiff on the transaction but it seeks to hold defendant for damages in the sum of Tls. 6,233.73 "suffered by reason of loss of market."

In its reply plaintiff alleges:

"The document alleged by the defendant corporation to constitute the contract in this matter (Exhibit No. 1 of the Answer) was regarded by the plaintiff firm as an order or statement of their requirements, which was accepted and reduced to a contract by the document referred to in paragraph 3 of the complaint."

The documents here mentioned are, respectively, those already referred to as Exhibit 2 and Exhibit 1. In other words, (and such was counsels contention arguendo), Exhibit 2 "was regarded by the plaintiff firm as an order or statement of their requirements which was accepted and reduced to a contract." But Exhibit 2, as we have seen, was an order "subject to approval of manufacturer" and if that order was accepted by defendant so as to create a contract it must have been accepted in the precise terms in which it was made. As stated in a work recognised as an authority on both sides of the Atlantic

"Acceptance therefore must be absolute. A proposed to sell property to X; X accepted 'subject to the terms of a contract being arranged' between his solicitor and A's. Here it was held that there was no agreement, for the acceptance was not final but subject to a discussion to take place between the agents of the parties."

In other words defendant could accept the order (offer) referred to only "subject to approval of manufacturer" and if Exhibit 1, the instrument subsequently signed by defendant, was an acceptance at all it was an acceptance with that condition. It is not immaterial whether plaintiff's attention was called to that condition or whether it failed to read the instrument before signing it. The rule is well settled that, in the absence of fraud, (and nothing of that kind is claimed here) a party who signs an instrument "is not permitted to show that he did not know its terms."

II.

On the other hand if Exhibit 1 was not an acceptance, as contended by plaintiff, it could only have resulted in a contractual relation as an offer by defendant, and if it were such it required acceptance by plaintiff in order to create a contract.

It is true that an acceptance like an offer may be effected by work, act or conduct but one of those must be shown before a contract may result. Was there an acceptance by plaintiff, in such form of the terms and conditions contained in Exhibit 1? That instrument, with its duplicate, was, as we have seen, sent plaintiff by defendant and retained by the former but was never signed by it and there is no claim of any express acceptance. On the contrary defendant's manager testifies, and it is not contradicted, that plaintiff insisted that the date when the goods would arrive should be inserted, the only provision there being "shipment at option manufacturers; prompt shipment." A request for such insertion not only shows non-acceptance but amounts to a counter-offer the effect of which is to reject the original offer:

"Where a person offers to do a definite thing and another accepts conditionally or introduces a new term into the acceptance his answer is either a mere expression of willingness to treat or it is a counter proposal, and in neither case is there an agreement."

There is testimony of a custom in Tientsin that when a foreign merchant deals with Chinese he first negotiates verbally and after reaching an agreement signs duplicate instruments evidencing the same and sends them for signature to the Chinese dealer, later sending his own shroff for one of the executed copies. Had that custom been followed in the case at bar there would have been no occasion for differences between the parties; but as we have seen the prior negotiations here, represented by Exhibit 2 did not result in an agreement and the subsequently prepared instruments were not executed by the Chinese dealer. Moreover there is evidence produced by plaintiff that defendant did send its market shroff after the duplicate instruments were in plaintiff's hands and that the latter refused to surrender them. True the reason given was that the shroff stated that defendant wanted to change them. But whatever the reason we see nothing in this incident which amounted to an acceptance. To us it seems rather to support the contention of defendant's counsel that his client was really exercising its right of revocation which continues up to the moment of acceptance. And not only must plaintiff show an acceptance in order to recover but also that such acceptance was communicated to defendant.

There is also considerable testimony and some conflict as to the time when the duplicate instruments (Exhibits 1 and A) were forwarded to plaintiff. But if these instruments were never accepted by the plaintiff the date when it received them is, of course, immaterial.

And we may here apply the test suggested by plaintiff's counsel, i.e. whether plaintiff itself was ever bound by this transaction; and this is to be determined not by what defendant's manager thought but by invoking the legal requirements. Had the situation of the parties been reversed and had defendant sought to enforce liability on the part of the plaintiff, the latter could very well have said "I have never accepted your offer nor signed your proposed contracts and I am not in any way liable thereon." We agree with plaintiff's counsel also in his contention that there must be mutuality in such cases—that unless both parties are liable neither is—and that if defendant could not have held plaintiff under the facts disclosed in this case plaintiff is equally without the right to hold defendant.

To sum up plaintiff cannot recover on a contract resulting from Exhibit 2 because the acceptance there was conditional only and the conditions have never been fulfilled. Nor did any contract result from Exhibits 1 and A for the reason that they were never executed by plaintiff and there is not sufficient evidence of their acceptance otherwise than by execution. We have no alternative, therefore, but to find for the defendant and it is accordingly considered and adjudged that plaintiff take nothing by its complaint and that defendant recover its costs.

Charles S. Lobingier, Judge.

Commencement Exercises

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsining, June 26.—Langhin Academy held its eleventh annual Commencement, Tuesday evening, June 22, in the Presbyterian Church. A class of four were graduated, all of whom delivered orations.

One of the graduates, who has been studying organ and piano during the last six years, in addition to his regular course, played Paderewski's celebrated Minuet, while another rendered an organ solo.

The Academy closes its spring term on July 1. Four of the students are now attending the Y.M.C.A. summer conference at Tsinan. Extensive repairs on the Academy main building are now in progress.

New machinery for the flour mill is now arriving, which, when installed, will increase the output of the mill to nearly 5,000 sacks per day of 24 hours.

The flour produced by this mill is equal to that of most of the great mills in the United States. Being in the heart of a great wheat raising section, with both the canal and railroad for transportation, it is well located.

University Of Nanking

Nanking, June 28.—The University of Nanking has completed the tenth year of its present union organisation. The fact has not been particularly emphasised in the commencement week, which is just ending; but no commencement at Nanking has ever revealed such clear proofs of development. This has been a special commencement in a normal form.

On Saturday morning the bachelor's degree graduates planted a tree on the campus, in front of the new chapel. Fitting speeches were made by Mr. Tsai Mo-seng in English and by Mr. Li Lu-han, a graduate in forestry, in Chinese.

CLASS EXERCISES

In the afternoon these graduates held the class day exercises at Kan Ho Yen, where the primary and secondary group is located. At this event Professor C. F. Liu presided and Mr. Lai Yuh-hsuin, president of the seniors, made a happy address of welcome. There followed a class song, a class history, a musical number by the class quartette, and a play by the class as a whole.

The baccalaureate service on Sunday morning began the more serious final events. This was the first service ever held in Sage Chapel, and everything contributed to make it quietly impressive. Acting President Williams of the University presided, and the sermon was delivered by the Hon. George C. Hsu, formerly Vice-Minister of Justice.

CHAPEL SERVICE

In the afternoon this chapel was used for the regular weekly service in English; which, though not on the commencement program, was especially fitted for Commencement Sunday, since Dean Moss presided and the address was by Dr. Marshall Livingstone Perrin, exchange professor from Boston University.

This, Monday, morning came Commencement itself—and the music of the Nanking Police Commissioner's well-known band. Inspired by those strains, the commencement procession started from Swasey Hall shortly after ten o'clock and, after being constantly under fire from a platoon of cameras marched in good order into a crowded Sage Chapel.

THE INVOCATION

The graduates and other students occupied the central part of the auditorium, the invited guests and faculty being on the platform. Dr. William E. Macklin pronounced the invocation. During the exercises there were pleasing musical numbers by the class quartette, the graduating class, and the college body.

After opening remarks by Acting President Williams, representatives from the Military Governor, the Civil Governor, and the Speaker of the Provincial Assembly presented greetings from these officials, and Mr. Hu Chia-chi, Commissioner of Education, and Mr. Chiu Lai-chi, Chairman of the City Council, spoke briefly.

COMMENCEMENT TALK

The commencement address was given by the Hon. Hwang Yen-pei, Chairman of the Kiangsu Educational Association. Mr. Hwang spoke forcefully on the subject of "Education for Leadership," his address being frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause.

The degrees and certificates conferred at this Commencement covered seventeen years of scholastic work, from the B. A.'s and B. S.'s to the kindergarten in the model School. And the enthusiasm of the commencement gathering reached a climax when the four tiny kindergarten graduates clambered up on the great platform to receive their little beribboned certificates.

(China Press Correspondence)

Kiukiang, China, June 23.—The week of the 21st has been a week of commencements for mission schools. Wm. Nast College closed on the 23rd a very successful and eventful year. Nine boys from the Middle School and twenty-nine from the Upper Primary received diplomas.

The commencement exercises were held in the large tent on the Danforth Hospital grounds. Dr. E. C. Perkins, acting president of the institution, gave the commencement address. This was later followed by speeches by General Wu and the Mayor of Kiukiang.

One of the most interesting things was the presentation of eleven prizes for scholarship and good behavior. There was one for each class in the Middle School, Upper Primary, Bible school and special students. Besides there were two for Chinese essay-writing for both the Middle School and the Upper Primary.

A beautiful day and general good feeling made it one of the most pleasant commencement seasons in years.

Many of the students have secured positions for the summer months, perhaps more than ever before. There will also be a large number who will be stationed throughout the province, teaching the phonic script and sanitation. There will also be some in the People Schools of the Y.M.C.A.

TOURISTS ARRIVING

The Kuling rush season is now on. Every train and boat touching Kiukiang brings a goodly number of people seeking rest and quiet among the mountains. The automobile service has been increased by the addition of a new Ford. The only distasteful thing about the cross-plain-trip is the request for "cumshaa" by the auto driver on arriving at Lain Hwa Tung, after a high fare has already been paid.

Visitors passing through Kiukiang on their way to Kuling would be wise to keep as far as possible from any Chinese dogs, at this time of the year. A few days ago Mrs. Wilson of Nanking, passing through Kiukiang, had a very serious accident. Her son Franklin, when getting on the automobile was bitten by a dog. They immediately sought Dr. Perkins' advice and the next boat took them to Shanghai for treatment. The dog was taken along.

SOLDIERS EN ROUTE

The Hunan disturbance has brought about 1,500 soldiers through Kiukiang, according to latest reports. Immediately on arrival they have been disarmed. No trouble is anticipated from them.

The farmers in this section report very good crops both in wheat, which has been harvested, and the rice, which is coming on. There has been plenty of rainfall, though not excessive.

SOME PEOPLE RUSH ABOUT and tire themselves unnecessarily, thinking to cure their constipation by spasmodic fits of overexertion. Others more sensible, take reasonable exercise daily, and use the little gentle-as-nature laxatives, Pinkettes, occasionally, thus ensuring healthy regularity. By dispelling constipation Pinkettes cure Biliousness, Sick Headaches, Liverishness, foul breath. Of druggists, or post free, 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

GET THE BUSINESS

"I'se gettin all de pleasure ob fishin' 'cept de fish," said the old darky who was told there were no fish in the puddle in which he was angling.

So with many business men. They are getting everything except the business. They are overloooking printing, the medium first at hand for increasing the sale of their products. They are not devoting the serious attention they should to the mailing list and to their direct advertising. They are ignoring the most effective and most economical form of advertising for nearly every business. It builds up prestige, establishes trade names, and begets confidence. It gets new dealers, livens up inactive ones and keeps those you have keyed up to the highest selling pitch. It sells goods! Why not use this tremendous force—this powerful "puller for profits."

Building your catalogue, getting out a new booklet, planning a direct advertising campaign or testing out a new territory—such important work should not be left to routine handling. Our printing and advertising organization relieves you of the worry, the detail, the searching after of "ideas," the doubts of indecision, the "wasted motion." We neglect no details, overlook no opportunity to make every dollar do its full work.

NOTICE

The undersigned, Own Chinkee (翁金奎), original name Ka Chinkee (解金奎), hereby declares that by desire of his late father, he was adopted when a small boy into the Own family on his mother's side and was brought up by the Own family as their son. Subsequently, owing to the death of his father and out of filial consideration for his mother he still used his original name of Ka Chinkee. However, this was against the will and desire of his late father and much regretted by the Own family. Furthermore, the children in the Ka family have greatly increased, whilst the thirteen branches of the Own family are without sons. Hence a meeting of the family elders was held during the former Ching dynasty according to the usual Chinese custom, and his mother consented that he, Ka Chinkee (as the second son) should be adopted into the Own family, and that thereafter he should entirely sever his connection with the Ka family. As some years have elapsed and the matter may not be generally known, it is now desired to put the above facts on record and all friends, relatives and the general public are requested to take note accordingly.

Mr. Hoover Changes Front

HERBERT Hoover must be finding his first serious plunge into the maelstrom of American politics as full of amusement as it is of surprises. But we doubt if he is enjoying it as much as the rest of the country is.

In the first place after making a fine campaign for the Republican nomination and going into the convention at Chicago with high hopes he quickly learned that in politics things are not always what they seem. When the delegates at Chicago began to vote they forgot all about Hoover, and in a little while they forgot all about the other favorites, Wood, Johnson and Lowden. At the end Harding was the only name they could spell.

And the same absent-minded delegates who went into the convention with their grips packed full of votes for the League of Nations, the Treaty of Peace and the Lodge reservations found on returning home that they had no luggage whatever. They had misplaced or lost everything that they took to the convention.

This must have been amazing to a man of Mr. Hoover's systematic and orderly forms. We judge so by the fact that he immediately announced that he would support the Republican ticket and platform. It did not represent anything that he had contended for, but it is evident that he felt some sort of unusual urge. How otherwise can we explain his course?

Now however, he has taken a second thought or got his second wind. For we note that he has issued a statement urging the Republican Party to demand the earliest possible ratification of the Peace Treaty and the League Covenant without Article 10. This article is the one that guarantees all members of the League in possession of the territory they hold at the time of joining the League.

Now we rise to ask: What will Mr. Hoover do if the Republicans fail him again? And we really do not see how, at this late day, they can so adjust their affairs as to accommodate him. They have turned down the Treaty and the League and they also have turned down Mr. Hoover, so he is taking a somewhat forward position in asking them to come around to his views.

The Republicans of course will feel some sympathy for Mr. Hoover. They treated him roughly at Chicago and, besides, they now want his support. But supposing they find that they cannot change their platform without holding a new convention, which is the fact, and also find that they cannot meet Mr. Hoover even half way without losing the support of Hiram Johnson? What then?

And on top of this, let us take it for granted that the Democrats meeting at San Francisco this week, will adopt a platform somewhat along the lines advocated by Mr. Hoover. What will Mr. Hoover do then? Will he support the party that is fighting for what he wants or will he support the party that is opposed to his wishes, and that further, has rejected him as a candidate?

But Mr. Hoover isn't the only big Republican who experiences a creepy feeling when he considers the results of the Chicago convention. How about Wood and Lowden? They also stood for the League and the Treaty.

The Ubiquitous Pencil

What would be the result, if every lead pencil in the world were suddenly wiped out of existence?

Not only a lot of convenience, to persons in almost every walk of life, but real hardship to many and even actual suffering. Business, art, engineering, architecture, education, all would have to be readjusted. Some substitute for the ubiquitous pencil would simply have to be found. Pencils, of one sort or another, have been used by mankind ever since the dawn of recorded history—the world has never learned to get along without them.

The ancient Greeks and Egyptians drew their pictures with pencils which consisted probably of lumps of colored earth or chalk, cut into a form convenient to be held in the hand. It was not until the fourth century before the Christian era that Greek artists began to use wet colors applied with a brush.

The use of metallic for marking is of very ancient origin. Cortez, during his conquest of Mexico, found the natives using crayons made of it.

This use of the metal lead, before the discovery of graphite, is responsible for the fact that today we call a pencil a "lead" pencil, although it really has no lead whatever in its composition. Graphite, before its real character was known, was called "black lead," because of the color of the mark it made, as distinguished from the greyish mark made by metallic lead.

Later it was discovered that graphite is almost pure carbon—identically the same element, in another form, as that of which diamonds are composed. Diamonds, graphite and coal are first cousins, chemically; the first two being practically 100 percent pure, while coal is carbon in an impure state. Diamonds can be turned into graphite and graphite into diamonds by the application of intense heat and enormous pressure—it has been done!

Back in 1564, the famous Barrowdale mine of graphite was opened in Cumberland and furnished the first pencils made of the material we now use; bits of the native graphite cut into convenient sizes. This mine was so highly valued that Parliament kept it guarded by an armed force and for a while would permit it to be worked only six months in the year. Later on graphite was discovered in other parts of the world, including the United States.

It was not until the closing years of the eighteenth century that pencils were made of the present mixture of clay and graphite, which permits of their being graded into different degrees of hardness and softness.

Kept Kipling's Checks

At one time Rudyard Kipling always paid his bills, no matter how small they happened to be, with checks. After a while he discovered, to his amazement, that his bank account showed a much larger balance than the stubs of his checkbook warranted. In fact, while he was drawing checks for small amounts almost daily, his money in the bank did not seem to dwindle in the least.

For a long time he was at a loss to account for this astonishing fact until he happened one day to visit an office, the occupant of which was an enthusiastic autograph collector. There the author saw one of his own checks, framed and hanging on the wall.

Thus the mystery was solved. It appeared that the local shopkeepers found that they often got more for Kipling's checks by selling them to autograph hunters than they could by cashing them at the bank, and so, although the author kept on drawing checks, his bank balance remained almost intact.

Not In Those Trousers

A good story of Carlyle is told by Miss "Ashford Owen" in the foreword to her novel "A Last Love," which has just been published by John Murray. The Carlyles had received tickets for a box at the opera, and Carlyle at first refused to put on evening dress. At length he put on his evening coat and waistcoat, but refused to change his trousers, saying "Do you think I am going to sit on the edge of the box and dangle my legs before the audience? Do you suppose anybody can take notice of my trousers?" But the doorkeeper did, saying: "Sir, you cannot enter in those trousers." And he was actually turned back.

Romance Of Lloyd's

Andrew Scott, Secretary of Lloyd's Register of Shipping, has prepared an interesting and instructive account of the origin of the Register, which, like its great parent institution of Lloyd's, had its inception in the coterie of shipping men who frequented the coffee house of Edward Lloyd in the reign of Charles II.

At that time ships' lists, written by hand, were kept for the use of frequenters of the coffee house, and were the bases of offers of marine insurance. These lists were passed from hand to hand and subsequently were put in type and circulated among the subscribers. The oldest copy of a Lloyd's Register of Shipping extant is contained in Lloyd's library and is dated 1764. In addition to the names of vessels, those of the owners and captains, the trade routes followed, the number of crew, and the date and place of construction, the Register contained a classification based upon guns carried and the excellence or indifference of the hulls.

According to Mr. Scott, further particulars were added in the column headed "guns" in the shape of notations descriptive of the vessels, such as "Sd," single deck; "SdB," single deck with tier of beams, and "3 decks." The classes assigned to the vessels were denoted by the letters A, E, I, O and U, which referred to the vessels' hulls, while the letters G, M and B (good, middling and bad), referred to the equipment. For instance, AG indicated a good ship and outfit, whereas UB would refer to a bad ship with poor equipment.

The Register came into being and was developed by the underwriters for their private use and was limited to the members of the society, practically the entire source of revenue being their subscriptions. Great secrecy was maintained at this time and in 1779 each subscriber was obliged to deliver his old book before a new one could be issued, and if lost the owner was refused another. In 1797, owing to the dissatisfaction among the members, two registers were issued, the Red Book, or Shipowners' Register, and the Green Book, or Underwriters' Register, subsequently amalgamated, and the organisation and administration vested in representatives of merchants, underwriters and shipowners.

Just as the name of Lloyd's is associated with marine underwriting, Lloyd's Register of Shipping is usually synonymous with the classification of shipping and the compilation of records, permanent and transitory, in connection therewith. Lloyd's Register, however, has extended its functions until it is a mine of information on mercantile-marine questions.

The General Committee of Management now comprises seventy-five members, with local committees at Liverpool and Glasgow. An American committee of Lloyd's Register is located at New York, a French committee at Paris, a Swedish committee at Goteborg and a representative commission at Trieste.

Mr. Scott enumerates the following as the services undertaken by Lloyd's Register of Shipping and the personnel necessary for effective execution:

"It has prepared and kept up to date classification, first of wooden vessels, then of iron vessels, then of composite vessels, and finally of steel vessels, specifying in great detail the scantlings of all such vessels, which have set a high standard for shipbuilders, not only in this country but all over the world.

"It has led the way in solving the very difficult problem of freeboard for all types of vessels, preparing tables of freeboard, which have formed the basis of regulations on the subject adopted in this and other countries.

"It has framed rules for the construction and classification of machinery and boilers, and has taken a leading part in the wonderful developments in marine engineering, which include the transition from the compound to the triple and quadruple expansion engine; the adoption of water-tube boilers, the adoption of turbines, and latterly of geared turbines; the adoption of internal combustion engines of different types, the great extension in the use of refrigerating and electrical machinery, and all the complicated auxiliary machinery which is found in modern vessels.

"It has organised a system whereby the whole of the steel used in the construction of vessels and machinery intended for classification in Lloyd's Register is inspected and tested by the society's surveyors at the works of steel makers the world over, including even far-off Korea, where there is a resident British surveyor.

"It has gathered together in its service a staff of ship surveyors, engineer surveyors, steel-testing surveyors, forging inspectors and electrical engineers, which now numbers 532, of whom 282 are stationed in this country and 250 abroad, there being over 100 surveyors in the United States, upward of sixty on the Continent, thirty-one in India and the Far East, twelve in Australia, ten in South America, and seven in Africa."

As constituted at present, the organised personnel of the administrative and executive forces of Lloyd's Register consists of shipowners, merchants and underwriters, assisted and advised by a large technical staff. Very useful work is done in considering or suggesting improvements for the safety of ships, passengers and cargo. The specialty of this organisation is expert testimony and opinion relating to types of vessels, methods of construction and classification, and frequently the details of construction are left to stipulations by the Register when orders for new vessels are placed.

During the last five years the society has surveyed and classified 10 tons of new shipping. In addition to surveys during construction and examination of hulls machinery and equipment of new vessels, periodical surveys required by the society's rules apply to approximately 9,000 vessels and 22,000,000 tons of shipping which are classified on the books of the Register.

Utopian Candidate

M. L. Chambers, a linotype operator of Ada, has announced that he will enter the lists next year as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress against Tom McKeown on this utopian platform:

"I am one of those men who believe that the land was put here for the benefit of all God's creatures and that no one man has any more right to live in the world than another. I am opposed to one man paying another man for the use of God's great universe which was put here for the use of all.

"I am certain that by next year the people will be so pressed down by the heavy cost of living that they will be ready to apply a real cure to this problem and quit listening to the soft-soaping of smooth-tongued grafters and of piano players in the bawdy house of plutocracy."—*Tulsa (Okla.) More Ministers Needed

It is from the families of the farmers and from the parsonage itself that new preachers come, according to a survey now being taken by the American Education Department of the Interchurch World Movement. The farms lead. The survey shows that out of every thousand pupils who enter the first grade of our American schools, only thirty-eight enter college and only fourteen remain to complete the course.

It is from these fourteen that the churches recruit the great majority of their ministers. It is also disclosed by the survey that it requires about 5,000 new men every year merely to replace the gaps in the ranks of the ministry at home.

The Last Resort

(From Sondags Nisse, of Stockholm, Sweden)

Father—"My son, you have studied law with no result. Literature and art have also been blanks for you. At the trade school you also were a failure. I don't see anything else but politics left for you."

Harding On The World's Needs

The following is from a recent speech by Senator Harding, of Ohio, Republican nominee for President:

"There isn't anything the matter with world civilisation except that humanity is viewing it through a vision impaired in a cataclysmal war. Poise has been disturbed and nerves have been racked, and fever has rendered men irrational; sometimes there have been draughts upon the dangerous cup of barbarity and men have wandered far from safe paths, but the human procession still marches in the right direction. Here in the United States, we feel the reflex, rather than the hurting wound, but we still think straight, and we mean to act straight, and mean to hold firmly to all that was ours when war involved us, and seek the higher attainments which are the only compensations that so supreme a tragedy may give mankind. America's present need is not heroics, but healing; not nostrums, but normalcy; not revolution, but restoration; not agitation, but adjustment; not surgery, but serenity; not the dramatic, but the dispassionate; not experiment, but equipoise; not submergence in internationality, but sustainment in triumphant nationality."

British And Belgian Trade

Belgium is recovering from war swiftly and Great Britain is moving effectively to control the foreign trade of the country, while the United States overlooks or neglects the opportunity, according to the report of a financial expert sent abroad in behalf of great interests in the United States. The report was not prepared for publication. It was intended strictly for the information of those to whom it was sent. Therefore it has no political bias or taint of propaganda. It gives facts and figures obtained from the highest and most authoritative sources of the Belgian commercial community.

The investigator found no indication of sentiment against this country or preference for England because of developments since the war. Confidence in the character and ability of American business men is strong. Stock in a great Antwerp bank rose substantially and promptly as it became known that the institution was controlled by a New York trust company. Where American enterprise is aggressive response is quick and cordial. Importation of American automobiles, especially those sold at medium and low prices, increases rapidly. The readiness of the people to take and pay for these is strong evidence of fast spreading prosperity and distribution of cash, purchases being made from money in hand and not from proceeds of mortgages.

Americans generally, however, seem to have little appreciation of conditions or desire to take advantage of them. At Antwerp, of the important banks six are controlled by local capital, five by British, one by British and Italians and two each by French and Americans.

RETURNING PROSPERITY

The great Belgian commercial fair at Brussels, opened in April, gave the first opportunity since the war for assembling evidences of the returning prosperity and thrift of Belgium. Of the exhibits 1,051 are Belgian, 201 French, 28 English, 17 Dutch, 12 Swiss, 10 Italian, and 3 American. In number of exhibits America ranked with Spain and Czecho-Slovakia.

Additional proof of Belgium's rapid progress is given by the official figures of the shipping at the Port of Antwerp. The first three months of this year the actual number of vessels arriving there was 1,874, which is 126 more than the number for the corresponding months of 1914, before war even was threatened. The tonnage is 1,000,000 less, because it is impossible for craft much above 1,200 tons to navigate the Scheldt as far as Antwerp pending the completion of dredging. The port figures for the entire year 1919 show that of vessels arriving 399 were English, 67 Belgian, 42 American, 30 Norwegian and 27 German. Of the English 95, less than a fourth, departed without cargo, while of the American 15, or more than a third, left unloaded. Of the 19 French ships 17 carried away cargoes. The arrivals for the first three months of 1920 were nearly three times as many as for the entire year 1919.

According to a statement issued by the National City Bank of New York and sent as a supplement by the investigator, the capital stock and bond issues of Belgian industrial and commercial firms were increased 2,000,000,000 francs in the fourteen months from October, 1918, to December, 1919. After banks the largest increases were in wholesale and retail dealers, iron works, navigation companies, water, gas and light companies and coal companies. The coal situation has been helped by an agreement with France under which that country undertook to sell to Belgium, to be delivered in April, May and June 640,000 tons of the coal given by Germany under the terms of the armistice.

BRITISH SOLICITING METHODS

The investigator reports that the British are soliciting Belgian trade energetically and making concessions to secure it. Many of their agents are "naming a maximum price on goods and agreeing to reduce that price if exchange goes against the Belgian purchaser, the result being that the latter fixes his selling figure based on the maximum and knows in advance that he has a comeback if exchange drops." The British bought and now control the German interests which controlled the Belgian wholesale and jobbing trade, but which were taken over under the War Sequestration act.

Figures of comparative costs of transferring deep sea freight which are given may be of melancholy interest here. At Antwerp ships lying alongside the six-mile pier are unloaded into or loaded from contiguous warehouses, separated from the pier's edge only by a railroad track, with electrically operated cranes at cost of 28 cents per ton, at present exchange rates, as against nearly $4 per ton in New York.

The Belgian crop outlook is excellent, the report remarks, "under the guidance of the women, who work in the fields here instead of at the primaries." Some labor troubles continue to develop, but they are less serious than in several other countries.

The banking laws are exceptionally liberal. Charters are granted readily and statements of condition are required but once a year. The Government makes no examinations and no special fees are exacted. Time deposits pay 3 and demand deposits from 1½ percent to 2½ percent. Interest on deposits must be 1 percent less than the discount rates on loans, which are fixed by the Banque Nationale of Brussels. Ten percent of the interest paid on deposits is deducted for income tax. The most recent discount rate was 4 percent, but there is no statutory restriction on interest.

The Belgian bankers say they have funds enough to meet present requirements of business, but whether they could handle very rapid expansions is a question. While inclination in America in general lines of business, to cultivate relations with Belgium does not appear to be very ardent, the Belgians are moving to seek markets in this country. They have secured already co-operation of the American authorities and the local authorities in New York to open an exposition here some time in the near future, and, it is understood, have options on space in a building in Fifth Avenue.

German Taxation

(South China Post)

Mr. Clifton Reynolds has some very interesting notes on "Socialist Finance in Germany" which he has made as the result of a recent tour with Captain Wedgwood Benn to Germany. Before the war, he points out, the National Debt of the German Empire stood at about five milliards of marks, and the latest estimate gives the figures at £70,200,000,000, to express them at pre-war exchange value. Imperial expenditure has increased by 900 percent, and the State expenditure by 100 percent. There is a floating debt of 82 milliards of marks, and paper money in circulation amounts to 57 milliards, while the territorial loss to Germany under the Peace Treaty causes a reduction of about 10 percent on tax revenue. To meet expenditure and reduce deficit and debt charges Erzberger proposed at the close of 1919 a special income-tax of a uniform 10 percent on companies of over 300,000 marks capital. He suggested also levies on capital, which are expected to produce 3,600 million marks for thirty years, and death duties and hereditance taxes, making a total of 15,000 million marks of direct taxation. Taxes on farmers and articles of consumption were to produce 11,000 million marks, and the grand total was thus 26,000 million marks.

The subject of the German capital levy, Mr. Clifton Reynolds adds, is one of particular interest. Take the specific example of an individual owning an industrial enterprise worth seven million marks before the war, as given in the Berliner Tageblatt, which assumes that he has increased his capital to ten million marks; the war levy on the increase takes as much as 2,827,900 marks, while the capital levy on the remainder payable over thirty years will amount to 2,710,858 marks. If the owner dies within the thirty years, the estate will pay 186,062 marks, 1,289,938. It is interesting to note that Herr Rathenau, one of the most important business men in Germany, has expressed his approval of this tax, as likely to prove successful and satisfactory. It is certainly a remarkable departure in taxation.

Changing Japan

"Apeing the West" is the title of an article in a London morning paper, in which the writer laments the changes in Japanese civilisation owing to the effect of the partial adoption of Western customs. The tourist comes to Japan anticipating new scenes, something purely Japanese; and he finds himself faced with reminders of his own country—hybrid specimens of houses and costumes and customs that he cannot abide. He arrives in enthusiastic expectation of seeing something truly Oriental, of which he has often read in tales of the Far East or saw in illustrated volumes on travel, but he is given only poor imitations of the West. The transition stage is everywhere too conspicuous to appeal either to art or utility. In the rapid rush for modernisation and Western progress not only Japanese banks, shops, offices, schools, dwellings, and factories are Eurasian, but Japanese dress, food, locomotion, and many of the nation's manners and customs.

Boys Must Have Action

Parents Should Clear Decks And Let Youngsters Romp To Hearts' Content

By Dr. Wm. A. McKeever

Little four-year old Bennie lived in a happy country home where there was plenty of everything, including live stock, crude playthings and the rough-and-tumble of the big out-of-doors. So, imagine his joy when recently he was taken to spend a day in a city flat with Grandma and two well-matured aunties, who, for a decade past, had not enjoyed the presence of a child in the house. Here are some of his achievements for the day:

Spilled a bottle of ink in Auntie Sue's fancy centerpiece, representing a Winter's odd hour employment.

Poured a cup of water down the hot-air floor register and watched the steam come rolling out.

Let the canary out of the cage so that it flew against the window and broke a wing.

Turned on the faucets in the lavatory so that the people below could catch some of the trickling stream of runaway water in a dish pan held over the bed.

FORGIVEN BY EVERYBODY

Then it was the end of a perfect day from his point of view, and Little Bennie fell fast asleep, perhaps not even to dream of the equally stirring events that were most probably in store for him on the morrow. We stood at his bedside, five of us at 9 p.m. watching him breathing, calm and peaceful and lovingly forgave him.

But my, oh, "the reckless, disobedient, ill-mannered little scamp," Auntie Sue's tired and shattered nerves suggested for a suitable characterisation? How in the world could his mother endure his pranks and noise for weeks instead of only a day?

Now that was easy. First of all Bennie was accustomed to unbreakable materials as playthings. A farm wagon, a wheelbarrow, a lazy mule team—there was nothing breakable about such things as these. So Bennie's ordinary day at home was one of rough-handling whatever he could seize upon.

No wonder the daintily furnished flat, with never so much as a thread out of place—no wonder this delicate arrangement of things snapped and yielded here and there to Bennie's habit of boisterousness.

CLEAR DECKS FOR ACTION

But there are hundreds of thousands of potential Bennie in this country—that is, small boys who were born for red-blood, hurly-burly action and whom a pale and pampering household arrangement has forced to tiptoe softly all day for the sake of not breaking something, not soiling something, not spilling something.

At length such boys themselves become soft, like the negative atmosphere in which they grow. They become soft handed, soft mannered and soft brained. They fail to grow their own grit, to produce their own self-propelling impulses, to learn to launch their lives finally upon a stormy but triumphant career.

Think of it, parents, grandmas and aunties. Hang things high, hide them away or nail them down and otherwise clear the deck for Bennie Boy, so that he may get into action, keep in form and grow a big personality.

Speculation Fever Wanes

England's Get-Rich-Quick Boom In Spindles Brought To Sudden Halt

Oldham, England, May 6.—Oldham's get-rich-quick boom is for the moment ended. The share fever still operates, though not so forcibly, but it is a fever to sell and not to buy. Ask a member of the Oldham Share Exchange how the boom is getting on, and he replies:

"Very little doing. Things are in a bad way."

Not that the Share Exchange in the basement of the Lyceum Library is deserted. At 10 o'clock one day recently a crowd was gathered under the electric light, and amid blue tobacco smoke men were crying the old cries: "A'll sell Fern." "A'll buy Cavendish," but whereas six months ago 5s. ($1.25) a share profit was made, at this time men were eagerly seizing on threepences and sixpences, and, even so, deals were few.

One who has dealt in these shares since the boom began twelve months ago said:

"I may have done as well as most people out of the new issues, but in the last three months I have not made £20 ($100). At times I used to make £200 a week. These days, if we make £7 to £10 on 100 shares, we consider ourselves lucky. Six months ago we were making £40 to £50."

Three or four reasons are assigned for the "slump." But Oldham is not panicky. Many folks are complacent. They have reason to be. Some 100 to 110 mills have been sold in Oldham since last year, and Oldham has pocketed something like £14,000,000 ($70,000,000) profit on those sales, apart from money made on speculation in new issues. Many of the men arguing over 3d. or 3½d. a share today have made their thousands out of buying and selling new issues. Nor have Oldham folk burned their fingers. That has been hardly possible so far. Disappointing to folk here as a profit of £7 on £50 in five months may be, it is in reality 20 percent. Those who cannot sell at all are likely to get 20 percent dividend.

Up till now only 20,000,000 of Lancashire's 60,000,000 spindles have been sold and perhaps 10,000,000 are recapitalised.

The view is held by some that once the wages problem is disposed of the market will revive, but Oldham generally is taking no risks.

Earth's Probable Weight

21 Ciphers in Estimate Made By Educationalist After Long Calculation

London, May 6.—The weight of the earth, in round figures, is 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons. This conclusion has been arrived at by an English university demonstrator as the result of experimental observation.

Two small balls of identical weight were suspended by quartz threads from the ends of a rod. When they were at rest two balls of about ten pounds each were brought close to them. Their mutual attraction caused the freely suspended spheres to swing toward the fixed heavy balls. The distance the spheres moved toward the lead balls being known, as well as the weight of both, it was then possible to calculate the force exerted on the one by the other. It being also known what force the earth exerted upon the balls, a sum in proportion gave the weight of the earth as above.

The result was checked by another method of weighing—by calculation based on the known distance of the earth from the sun and the known speed of the earth's rotation.

The Human Toadstol

The clergy often get some surprisingly witty rubs from the "plain-spoken women" in their flocks. There was a vicar of a very scattered rural parish who possessed a remarkable knowledge of fungi. So keen was he on his hobby that he somewhat neglected his pastoral work in his quest for specimens for his collection. One day, he relates, he popped in to see a bedridden old lady, and she immediately reminded him of how long it was since he last gave her a call. "If I had been a toadstool," she rasped out, "you'd have been to see me long ago."

HOBART HENLEY
PRESENTS
Mrs. Sidney Drew's
Adaptation of

"THE GAY OLD DOG"

By Edna Ferber

Producer's Foreword

Miss EDNA FERBER'S story, "The Gay Old Dog" has been inscrolled on the Honor Roll of American Literature. A true and beautiful feeling underlies her character of "Jimmy Dodd"—and if in presenting him to you we sound the depths that penetrate the heart of life and enroll him too in your memory we shall have accomplished our thought for you—and perhaps for other Jimmy Dodds.

COME AND RECOGNIZE HIM ON THE SCREEN; HE'S AN OLD FAMILIAR FRIEND

Come and make merry with him, grin with him, join his dinner and theatre parties, help him choose hats for his lady friends AND LOOK INSIDE THAT GREAT BIG HEART OF HIS, and perhaps you will understand why they all called him "THE GAY OLD DOG." It isn't ALL gaiety; not ALL the time.
